

The Situation:

"It looked like the school was sitting in a lake. There was three feet of water against the doors and windows. The water was squeezing through the door jams and the vents of the building like a waterfall. The building was overtaken by category three contaminated water."

The Facts:

- 85% of the floor cover was replaced
- All porous materials that came in contact with water were removed and replaced
- 100% of the building was cleaned and sanitized
- All mechanical and electrical were subjected to 5ft of water and were replaced

The solution:

I was relieved as soon as I saw Paul Davis was on the scene. Having a close relationship with the restoration company allowed us to make more effective and efficient decisions and to make sure the resources were in place to meet the demands of the situation. Paul Davis was the first restoration company we considered for this type of devastation. We know the local office owner and recognize the company's reputation as specialists in the field. We had confidence they could complete the job in just seven weeks. We are very pleased!"

To whom it may concern:

I am writing this letter to serve as a stellar recommendation for the Paul Davis National company. Their speed, professionalism, and expertise during the worst disaster in our state educational system's history was, to say the least, astonishing.

Faced with a 400,000 sq ft school that had submerged lower levels, two feet of flood water rushing through the entire first floor, and just five weeks before the start of a new school year, we were sure that the entire community would be adversely impacted. Paul Davis National saved our school, spared our kids from major disruption, and quite frankly spared our community from being turned upside down by having the project done on time and as promised.

Not only did Paul Davis National understand how to properly restore or replace things like gymnasiums, pools, dance floors, the schools furniture and contents, but they also understood the human side. Their ongoing clear and meaningful communications with our insurance carrier, our school board, and our community were second to none. A schedule was created to get our kids in school on time, and Paul Davis National constantly updated everyone as they stayed on task and met their promises.

To say that Paul Davis National exceeded my expectations does not do them justice. Throughout the repair process they continued to impress me, and they consistently exceeded every expectation by all involved. I highly recommend that anyone responsible for disaster recovery get to know these guys.

Please feel free to contact me for further information.

Yours in education.
