Paul Davis National installs technologically advanced equipment tracking, repairs and registration software

Jacksonville, FL – August 19, 2011 - Paul Davis National, the large loss specialists for Paul Davis Restoration has chosen the CheckMate Toolroom Tracking Solution as the company's new equipment tracking software. The software program will help to increase productivity and cost savings by reducing the time it takes to locate equipment for large loss projects by assuring that items will not be lost or left behind after a job.

Based on fast, mobile data collection applications, the system uses barcode technology to record where the equipment item is, who has it, and when it is due back. The new software also includes a Maintenance Scheduler which records repairs, vehicle service, warranty expiration dates, and registration renewals. The equipment was developed by Dynamic Systems, a national leader in barcode tracking solutions since 1981.

"We are very pleased with how easy CheckMate is to use," said Howdy Russell, Paul Davis National partner and corporate spokesperson. "We first implemented the Checkmate system on one of our jobs in the Midwest and immediately saw the benefits for tracking and management purposes," he said.

The company recently installed CheckMate in three of its roving trailers and will be adding systems to several more emergency disaster recovery trailers by year end. With the use of CheckMate Toolroom, Paul Davis National will organize more quickly and confirm that trailers are fully equipped and ready to respond to any emergency.
